

STATE PLANS SANITATION SURVEY HERE

Pennsylvania's Department of Health Monday will begin a "premise-to-premise environmental sanitation survey" in Gettysburg, John A. Sheffer Jr., regional sanitarian, announced today.

At least four sanitarians from the state department will take part in the survey asked by borough council at its July session.

Sheffer said the men should complete their survey "in a week or ten days."

While the survey members will "be on every property in the town" during the period, it is not anticipated that they will interrogate more than a few townspeople. Where questions arise the survey team will knock on doors and seek answers to the questions, but generally they will confine their study to conditions outside homes without bothering the homeowners.

To Report To Council

Sheffer said each of the men will carry credentials from the state Department of Health and "if strangers appear on your property ask for their credentials. If they are our men they will be more than happy to show them," Sheffer said.

The survey to obtain the basic information concerning sanitation in the town will be "the most quickly completed" portion of the work planned, Sheffer said. After the survey the information will be correlated and a report prepared for borough council. The town's sanitation ordinances will be studied in the light of the findings and if problems are found that are not covered by the ordinances, the final report will also recommend needed changes in the ordinances.

JAYCEES TO MAKE SURVEY ABOUT LIGHTS

Gettysburg residents will be able to see, in simultaneous operation, the present "White Way" street lights, a modern mercury vapor light such as is proposed for the town by Metropolitan Edison Co. and an antique type street light before being asked which they prefer for the town's "White Way" system, the Junior Chamber of Commerce was told at its meeting Thursday evening at the former CCC camp on W. Confederate Ave.

William A. Lentz, local Metropolitan Edison manager, said that the company will cooperate with the questionnaire by placing a complete unit of the mercury-vapor lamp proposed by them—standard, arm, light and all. The antique type lamp installed on the square will also be completed as it would be if adopted—with a reflector placed in the top to throw the light down on the street, the standard painted "antique black" and arms placed on the standard to provide the appearance of an old time street light.

To Help Register Voters

Robert Weiland, Donald Becker and John Basehore, the committee for the Jaycees named to conduct the survey of the town to determine its street lighting preferences, reported they plan to meet with Gettysburg College sociology department officials to seek their assistance in drawing up the questions that will be asked the public concerning their preference on the lights. As Becker expressed it at the meeting Thursday: "We don't want to inadvertently put any loaded questions in the survey. We feel that the experts can help us develop questions so that the answers will show what the people truly want."

The Jaycees also decided to offer their services to the Republican and Democratic committees "to help them, if they wish our help, to get every eligible citizen registered and encourage the people to vote."

President Harry Spangler announced that the Jaycees will meet at 9 o'clock Saturday morning to remove three trees from in front of the Adams County Free Library on E. High St.

Add New Member

Nixon And Lodge Given Rousing Ovation By GOP

By JACK BELL
CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon left the triumph of convention hurrahs behind him today to plunge into a back-breaking presidential campaign he views as a turning point in history.

To the roaring acclaim of the expiring GOP convention, Nixon Thursday night accepted in what he called "the greatest moment of my life" the Republican presidential nomination.

He pledged, if elected, to "build a better America" that "will not tolerate being pushed about by anybody, any place."

He welcomed aboard his "free world victory" ticket as a vice presidential running mate towering Henry Cabot Lodge, United Nations ambassador and symbol of American resistance to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's challenge to the free world.

Peps Up Workers

With his credo for the campaign laid down in a 50-minute acceptance address before a wildly cheering convention, the Republican presidential nominee plunged immediately into the practical business of shoring up Republican unity and pepping up the party workers.

He arranged to address the newly constituted GOP National Committee where his support was more solid than perhaps any other Republican candidate had been able to command in this century.

This over, Nixon planned to meet the press for the first time as the party nominee.

The vice president reserved the afternoon for meetings with party leaders. He had to postpone many of these earlier in the week in a combined effort with his back-patting new ally, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, for the kind of liberalized platform the two men wanted and got.

As far as the Kennedy-Johnson ticket is concerned, Rice said it is "a strong ticket." He voted for Kennedy on the first and only ballot. He expressed the opinion that if Kennedy had not been nominated, Johnson would have been the next best man.

Rice announced that a meeting of the Democratic national committee will be held in Philadelphia Tuesday and all county chairmen have been invited. Fred G. Klunk, New Oxford, Adams County chairman, is expected to attend.

ROUND TABLE DELVES INTO COLONIAL DAYS

Gettysburg's Civil War Round Table Thursday evening learned about battles extending back into the colonial days and the French and Indian Wars when it visited Carlisle Barracks and the Bellaire House in Carlisle.

At the barracks the round table, led by its president, William G. Shoemaker, visited the "Hessian Guard House," constructed as a powder magazine in 1777 by Hessian prisoners captured by George Washington in Trenton on December 26, 1776.

There they saw relics ranging from a drum captured by the Hessians at Trenton to World War II weapons and including such Civil War mementoes as the sash worn by General Warren, who is often credited with being the savior of the Battle of Gettysburg for the Union.

"Job" Stuart at Carlisle

J. E. B. Stuart, the round table was told, spent five months as a student at the "School of Cavalry Practice" conducted by the Army at Carlisle Barracks from 1838 to 1861 and which trained many of the cavalry officers who fought on both sides during the Civil War.

The barracks started when Col. John Stanwix arrived on May 30, 1757, "near Carlisle" and threw up earthworks around his camp noting, "If it may have no other use, it keeps soldiers properly employed." However, Stanwix also observed "It is now supposed to be a camp of continuance." His command, which was designed to protect against the invasions of Indians during the French and Indian War, included a battalion of the "Royal Americans" plus 1,000 Pennsylvania, 300 Maryland and 600 Provincial troops. In 1758 a large depot was constructed at the barracks and the post was the most secure English position in the West. It became the "jumping off place" for expeditions to the west. In 1769 it became an armory and during the Revolution became a quartermaster supply headquarters for Washington's armies. Cannon, shot harness, gun carriages, barrels and nails were constructed there and at Mount Holly and Pine Grove Furnaces.

Gettysburg Connections

In use since 1757, the barracks has been the Indian School, the field hospital school, the chaplains' school and for the last decade the Army War College. Washington brought troops to the barracks to put down the Whisky Rebellion.

George M. Diffenderfer, Carlisle, told about Carlisle's links with the Battle of Gettysburg at a dinner session in the Bellaire House.

STATE GROUP IN STEPCHILD ROLE WITH GOP

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
CHICAGO (AP)—Robert L. Johnson, chancellor of Temple University, today took over the job of Pennsylvania Republican national committeeman and the initial task of filing a complaint.

Johnson was named last May by the State Committee to succeed Jay Cooke, Philadelphia financier. The action was formalized at today's National Committee meeting.

Pennsylvania's 70-vote delegation was bitter about what it considered shoddy treatment in convention seating and program participation. Specifically, the delegates were upset that no Pennsylvanian was named to second the nomination Thursday night of Henry Cabot Lodge as GOP vice presidential candidate.

GOP Stepchild
"Pennsylvania has been a stepchild to the Republican convention," Cooke told the delegation's final caucus Thursday night before Lodge's nomination.

He made the motion — unanimously adopted by the delegation — that Johnson and National Committeewoman Ruth Glenn Pennell, Milford, register a stiff complaint with the policy group.

Sen. Hugh Scott, delegation chairman, told the caucus that he had made efforts to have a Pennsylvanian included among the secondaries.

Scott Unhappy
"I was told Ambassador Lodge had his own seconders and that is the way it was," Scott told the caucus, adding:

"I don't like it, but that is the way it went."

Cooke said, "We have been given no break at this convention."

Cooke Retires
"I can say that," he declared, "because I don't have to be polite to anybody anymore."

Cooke decided to retire as committeeman last spring in order to devote his full time to personal activity.

Scott submitted his resignations counsel to the National Committee. He was named to the unsalaried post in 1956. Scott said he took the action in order to devote more time to his duties as a member of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's presidential campaign strategy board. Scott is one of five members of the group.

The Belgians promised today to start soon a withdrawal of their military forces in the Congo. Premier Gastor Eyskens' government announced about 1,500 men will be brought home in the near future.

There are about 12,000 Belgian soldiers in the former Belgian colony, sharing police duty with the 9,500-man U. N. command. The U. N. Security Council has asked the Belgians to get out quickly.

STOCKS RALLY

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally carried through into its second straight session on reduced volume early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.00 to 214.30 with the industrials up 1.60, the rails up .40 and the utilities up .40.

The advance faltered early in the day when prices were mixed and trading slowed. The spur of lower margin requirements for stock purchases seemed to have worn off. Renewed buying support entered the market, however, as steels and autos sparked the upturn.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western

AUGUST DATES ARE SET FOR REGISTRATION

EMMITSBURG —

Frederick County voters will be given a chance to register in their districts in time for the coming general election, it was learned Thursday from Russell House in the Board of Election Supervisors office.

As plans now stand registering teams will visit all of the districts between August 15 and August 31.

House said plans are now being made to locate suitable places for the registration. As soon as approval is given registration places will be made public. In most cases it will be at the usual polling places.

Teams Trained

Two teams of two persons each — one a Democrat, one a Republican — will be trained for the work. They will spend a day in each district. Since two teams will be working, it is hoped to do two districts per day to speed up registration.

The deadline for registering for the November 8 presidential election is September 26. Any qualified voter can now register through that time at the Board of Election Supervisors office in the basement of the courthouse. Hours are from 9 to 4 each Monday through Friday.

House pointed out that in the county areas, the hours will be set as soon as it is established what hours will be most convenient to the general public. He said he felt that the registrars will stay in the evening to give county workers a chance to register.

For the past several election years, the special-day registration in the county has been followed. It has met with considerable success, House said.

benefit of the Army's commissary," according to General Lee's order, during which he "might take Harrisburg if practicable," came into Carlisle on June 26 while Knipps' New York Brigade and the 120 cavalymen at Carlisle Barracks under command of William Boyd retreated to Harrisburg.

Daniels' and Iverson's brigades were placed in the barracks, and Doles' was placed on the Dickinson College campus "disrupting the commencement exercises of the class of 1863."

Jenkins' 1,200 cavalymen went on to Lemoyne and found Harrisburg could easily be captured. June 29, while Ewell was planning on entering Harrisburg upon the return of Early, he received word from Lee to march to Cash-town. Plans called for the corps to proceed to Mount Holly Springs and then at "Papertown" to turn south through Idaville and Biglerville.

Jenkins failed to make the turn and when Ewell's wagon at the rear of the corps reached the intersection of the road to Idaville he found his corps was enroute to York Springs. He sent orders which turned it south at York Springs to Heidlersburg. At Heidlersburg Early was met returning from Wrightsville and on July 1, when the cannonading was heard, Ewell's corps came down the Biglerville and Harrisburg Rds. to turn the tide in favor of the Confederacy on the afternoon of July 1.

Clash In Carlisle

Maj. Gen. W. G. Smith with the 21st and 22nd New York Militia and Boyd with his cavalry returned to Carlisle when Ewell's corps left. They were there July 1 when J. E. B. Stuart's Cavalry Corps arrived. The Union troops had marched into the square, people of the town brought out food and placed it on the tables at the market house and the townsfolk and soldiers were having a picnic in the center of Carlisle when Stuart's Cavalry arrived and asked surrender of the Union troops. Smith declined to surrender and Stuart ordered his cannon to fire on Carlisle.

Fitzhugh Lee's unit set the barracks afire and the fire spread to a nearby lumber yard and then to the Carlisle gas works. No townspeople were injured but 18 Union soldiers were wounded in the skirmish which was broken off when Stuart received orders to go to Gettysburg.

"MY CUP RUNNETH OVER"

One of the greatest of all the Psalms of David is the Twenty-Third. There is a favorite line in that inspired Psalm that I repeat every night as I lie in bed, thinking of the day's happenings and thanking my Heavenly Father for all His goodness to me, and praying for that which sustains the soul. Here is that inspired line: "My cup runneth over."
Why can't all of us so order our lives as to cause all of our good deeds to overflow in payment for the endless gifts of our Father in Heaven. He wants everybody to be happy, so he causes the cup of love and kindness and other blessings to keep overflowing.

How many of us can honestly say that our goodness in the world keeps "running over"? We ought so to do for this earth is none too good, take it in its multiplicity.

We all know people whose cheer and kindness are contagious. How welcomed such folks are. Like inviting an extra sun to be on loan to us with its area of wealth and wonder.
Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Don't Pass The Buck!"

Just Folks

THE HANDSHAKE

He may be rich for all I know,
He may be clever in his way;
A dozen men may come and go
To do his bidding, day by day.
He may be really on the square,
Perhaps for what is fine he stands;
To know him better I don't care
Since we shook hands.His fingers barely closed in mine;
He didn't look me in the eye;
He did not give a pressure fine,
But in my hand he let his lie
As dead and cold as any fish
That's long been washed upon the sands;
To know him further I've no wish
Since we shook hands.I like the good old hearty grip
From men who look me in the face
And clasp my hand in fellowship;
They are the men that I embrace.
I'm glad to pass the others by,
And join with that true-hearted band
That looks a brother in the eye
And grasps his hand.

SLATER MARTIN
QUITS CAGERS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Slater (Dugie) Martin, captain of the St. Louis Hawks, is finished playing professional basketball.

The 34-year-old Martin, oldest and smallest player in the National Basketball Assn., announced his retirement Thursday night. He had played in the NBA for 11 years.

Martin said he might be back in the NBA someday but "only as a head coach, not in any other capacity."

Martin, only 5 foot 10, was the last active member of the old Minneapolis Lakers who ripped up the league in the early 1950s.

As a collegian, he led the University of Texas to the Southwest Conference title in 1947.

Two other former titlists were not far out of contention Art Garrison, brother of Paul, who won in 1956, toured the narrow, 6,250-yard layout in 73, and Gordon Goodson

Everybody Is Encouraged To Attend Church

By REV. OTTO KROEGER
Pastor, Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield

"See You in Church"

Text: Luke 14:15-24

"The honor of your presence is respectfully requested at the Church of your choice this Sunday and every Sunday morning during the worship hour." Jesus said, "I am the Bread of Life. He who come after me shall never hunger and he who believes in me shall never thirst. — Come unto me all ye . . ." Jesus alone invites us weekly to feast on the food of eternity and yet all too frequently we turn the invitation down with a flimsy excuse and absent ourselves from his church.

In the above named text we have the story of a man who had prepared a sumptuous feast and then sent his steward out to call all those who had previously been invited. When they received the invitation they all said that they would attend, but when the actual summoning came, they gave way to other pressures and wished to be excused from their obligation of attendance. In one case, the person had just purchased a new piece of property and he wanted to inspect it and so he could not fulfill his obligation. In the case of the second man, he had just purchased new oxen and could not wait to try them out and therefore he wished to be excused. When the steward approached the third man, the third man said that he had just gotten married and his wife demanded all of his time and it was consequently impossible for him to be present.

Confirmation Vows

As we read this account, one ought to feel uneasy because modern parallels can too clearly be drawn. Jesus Christ invited all of us to be a part of Him through the Sacrament of Holy Baptism and we all said yes to this invitation when we took our confirmation vows, yet how frequently we let feeble excuses keep us from the feast of the Lord which is ours every Sunday in church. There are those who are members of the Christian Church whose life is one big excuse! They say yes to Christ but when He bids them come, their desire to take care of their personal investments and material goods captivates their time and they absent themselves from their Christian responsibility of worshipping their God.

Today our nation is filled with those who do not own any of their worldly possessions but their possessions own them and take all of their time.

Use Many Excuses

There are those who say yes to Christ but because they have just bought a new car, or house, or the like, they can't come to church. They want to drive the new car and Sunday is the only day for such things. To others, Sunday has become the day for working on the new house, or seeking a special part-time job, or trying out a new set of golf clubs.

As in the case of the newlywed, today there are those who say yes to Christ but then use their family as an excuse for not being in church. They say that they cannot come to church because they must spend the day with their family or they cannot work on a church committee because their family demands their time. Yet these same people have time to sit around gas stations and fire halls, play bridge at someone else's house, and enjoy scores of other time-taking and often not too spiritually edifying activities.

The host in this Lucan Gospel account was greatly upset that those who had said they would come did not. Hence, he went out into the highways and invited everyone he saw to come to the feast. He opened his door to the "uninvited" of society and forbid those who had originally been invited to attend. Those who had been invited were cast out forever! So God has done down through the ages. Church members have often given in to excuse making and failed in their responsibility. Each time this happens God invites others to do His work. So was such an invitation extended when the Reformation was born as well as the Salvation Army, Methodism, and other great reform movements within the church. The big question for us today then is: How long will the church content itself with sophistication and mediocrity and continue to give God excuses? Jesus alone invites us saying "Come unto me all ye . . ." You are invited weekly. See you in church!

"The Basis For Healing By Prayer"

WGCT (1450 kc)
Tuesday 9:00 A.M.

When you are eight years old, it is not difficult to transform yourself suddenly into an Indian scout and to see a procession of chiefs, with their brightly colored feathered headdresses, galloping across the horizon astride magnificent stallions.

Children are fired with imagination, just as they are filled with faith. The faith of a child is something so simple and so beautiful that many an adult, viewing it, finds himself crying a little, deep down inside, for his own lost childhood and the touching innocence that was once his.

Yet before God, all men are children, His children, and Faith is there to be accepted, if men will but take it as a gift. The Church has the answer, showing you how to live like a man, while still possessing the heart of a child . . . helping you to get the very most out of life. If you haven't been to church lately . . . why not go this Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

IKE PREDICTS

GOP VICTORY

IN NOVEMBER

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP) — President

Eisenhower says Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge face a struggle right down to Election Day. But he expresses confidence the Republican ticket will defeat the Democrats in November.

Eisenhower predicted a tough struggle and GOP victory in a congratulatory telegram Thursday night to Vice President Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, and Lodge, his running mate.

He said eight institutions left the state system during the year ended June 15, but the number of branches established during the same period increased by 13.

$100 Million Drop

Among State Banks

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's state banks had total assets of $8,396,180,126 as of June 15, a drop of more than 100 million from the same period last year.

But State Banking Secretary Robert L. Myers Jr. doesn't think the decline reflects a reversal of the upward trend of assets in the last decade.

In a report Thursday, Myers said the decline "was largely the result of the merger in 1959 of a large state banking institution out of the state banking system."

He said eight institutions left the state system during the year ended June 15, but the number of branches established during the same period increased by 13.

KENNEDY AND JOHNSON TO MEET FRIDAY

By G. MILTON KELLY
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic running mates for president and vice president, met tonight to discuss a proposed military spending shock treatment reply to insults from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It will be their first meeting since they accepted nominations at the national convention.

A move to force Republican hands on the issue on how much the United States must spend for arms to be safe ranks high on their agenda. They have other things to discuss, however.

"Jarring" Answer

Kennedy said Thursday more defense money is needed. But he mentioned no dollar total. Averell Harriman, one of his top foreign policy advisers and the man many expect will be Kennedy's secretary of state if the Democrats win, has advocated a two billion dollar extra appropriation in the Congress session starting Aug. 8. Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has advocated even more—3½ billions.

Harriman's idea, he told newsmen here after a visit with Kennedy last week, is to earmark a couple of billions for specific military purposes as a "jarring" answer to the insults Khrushchev has heaped on this country since the U-2 spy plane incident. Harriman's philosophy is that Khrushchev understands strength — and that we are not so strong as we should be militarily.

Johnson also has been critical of the Eisenhower administration's defense program. He will fly here tonight, stopping en route to visit former President Harry S. Truman.

News Conference Too

Sources close to Kennedy said the two standard bearers will discuss the whole matter at length. Kennedy will meet Johnson at the airport, and drive him to his home for an evening of talk and an overnight stay. They plan to sit up late, and have a news conference Saturday morning.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, is due this afternoon but apparently has no plan to get together with Kennedy until Saturday after Johnson leaves.

GREAT DEBATE IS SHAPING UP IN CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK (AP) — An unprecedented face-to-face television debate series appears likely between the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees.

At Hyannis Port, Mass., Thursday, Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, quickly accepted an invitation from Robert W. Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., to appear in a "great debate" on the air.

In Chicago Vice President Richard M. Nixon's press secretary said he assumed arrangements would be worked out for such debates. Herbert G. Klein said Sarnoff's wire had been received but that Nixon had not yet replied.

Need Amendment

The Columbia Broadcasting system and the American Broadcasting Co. also expressed readiness to offer peak air time for such debates, but said federal regulations are an obstacle.

CBS news president Sig Mickelson said Section 315 of the Communications Act must be amended so as not to require equal time for splinter party opponents.

Suggest Plans

Leonard H. Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc., sent telegrams to Nixon and Kennedy outlining a proposal for the three networks to alternate in giving them prime time each week for nine weeks. He said the plan is predicated on a waiver by Congress of section 315.

Sarnoff told the candidates by telegram that the aim was to devote four programs, each an hour long, to "joint discussion of the issues." Sarnoff added that four other programs of an hour each would be scheduled for questioning of candidates by journalistic panels.

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP)—U. S. Army Engineers report a two-dam flood control project is being completed with the construction of the Prompton Dam in Wayne County.

The other dam was built in Dyberry Township, used strictly for flood control. The Prompton Dam also will be used for recreational purposes.
